Research Promotion

2.01 Promotion of research is the most important responsibility of the Council. This is being pursued through a number of schemes aimed at building the infrastructure for research, financing of research projects, awarding research fellowships, providing grants to meet research expenditure, assisting training programmes, etc.

Surveys of Research in Social Sciences : First Series

2.02 Under a major project undertaken by the ICSSR soon after its inception to conduct a survey of research in social sciences (covering broadly the period up to 1969), the second volume in the field of Political Science was published during the year. The third volume was sent to press and the two remaining volumes were under finalization.

Physical Geography

2.03 A Survey of Research in Physical Geography covering the period 1968-77 has been taken up under the joint auspices of the ICSSR and the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. Prepared under the editorship of Professor C.D. Deshpande, the volume is likely to be published shortly.

Surveys of Research : Second Series

2.04 The ICSSR had decided, as part of its programme for the Fifth and Sixth Five-Year Plans, to continue this scheme of research surveys beyond 1969 and to bring out a second series. The work accomplished till the end of 1980-81 is as follows :

Areas of priority were selected and scholars and institutions who could undertake research on these areas from time to time were identified. The sponsorship is normally continued until it is felt that some active interest in the area has been inculcated amongst the scholars or some substantial research monographs have been prepared and the results disseminated among the concerned academic and professional community.

2.24 The progress made by the various sponsored programmes is as follows :

Poverty and Unemployment

2.25 Under this programme, initiated in 1975, all the ten studies sanctioned have been completed. The Documentation-cum-Clearing House Centre established at the Western Regional Centre of the ICSSR continued to collect data/information on Poverty and Unemployment during the year.

Rural Development

2.26 This programme, started as a follow up of the Integrated Area Development Programme, was continued under which macro and micro studies have been sanctioned. The Council has also promoted studies in the field of rural industries and studies on the evaluation of different governmental schemes on agricultural/rural development. Two action-cum-research studies, one to study the application of appropriate technology in the rural society and the other to study experimentation in rural education were also going on.

Publications

Anthologies and Classics

4.01 Under its new publication policy, the ICSSR has undertaken the preparation and publication of a two-volume anthology on the study of society in India, devoting the first volume to "theoretical perspectives" and the second to the "data base".

4.02 The two volumes would be compiled in English and writings in any of the Indian languages chosen for inclusion would have to be translated into English.

4.03 Another related scheme aims at the preparation of critical and annotated editions of contributions of leading Indian social scientists in a series of "Classics". Each volume will carry an introductory essay by the editor bringing out the significance of the chosen text(s). To begin with, the editorial work relating to B.N. Ganguli's classic treatise on the "Trends and Population in the Ganges Valley : A Study in Agricultural Economics" has been assigned to Professor Asok Mitra.

V

Data Archives

Acquisition of Data Sets

5.01 One of the important functions of the Data Archives has been acquisition of data sets in machine-readable form generated by the projects funded by the ICSSR. However, out of the experience gained over the last few years, the Council has decided that scholars/institutions responsible for the creation of data sets may retain the data provided they have adequate facilities for storage and preservation. The Data Archives, therefore, acquires data sets from only those scholars/institutions which do not have adequate facilities of data preservation and/or dissemination. During the year under review 79 project directors, who had completed projects, were contacted for the supply of information about the nature of data generated under their projects. The following data sets have been acquired :

- (1) G.S. Bhatnagar, Community Response to Health.
- (2) M.S. Adiseshiah, and K. Venkatasubramanian, Career and Placement Study of SC/ST Candidates who Passed School Final Examination in Selected Two Districts in Tamil Nadu.
- (3) G.D. Thakore, A Sociological Study of Agricultural Problems of Farms.
- (4) P.D. Sharma, Role Effectiveness of the Textile Labour Association in Serving the Needs of the Textile Workers of Ahmedabad.
- (5) Ausaf Ahmad, Analysis of Socio-economic Factors Affecting Household Saving Behaviour.
- (6) Bashiruddin Ahmad, Seventh Lok Sabha Elections 1980.

Financial Assistance for Organizing Data Sets in Machine-readable Form

5.02 Financial assistance under this scheme is provided for the organization of already collected research data. It covers expenses on items like coding, punching, computer taping of data, etc., provided the data have a significant re-use potential and provided that the data will be made accessible to other interested scholars. Individual requests under this programme are considered on merit.

5.03 During the period under review, the Council has sanctioned a sum of Rs. 9,995 to the B.M. Institute of Mental Health, Ahmedabad, for the organization of data on "20 per cent Sample of the Cases Who Visited the Institute for Help and Treatment".

National Register of Social Scientists in India

5.04 The manuscript of the National Register of Social Scientists in India has been sent to the press for publication. The Register contains information about the academic background, present position, research interests and important publications of nearly 7,500 Indian social scientists.

Guidance and Consultancy Services in Data Processing

5.05 This programme continues to provide assistance to interested scholars to tackle their data processing problems in connection with their research. This involves guidance on preparation of code books/card designs; selection of appropriate research techniques for analysis of the collected data and programming assistance/machine processing of data. During the year under review 53 scholars utilized these facilities at the following ten centres :

- (1) Centre for the Study of Developing Societies, Delhi.
- (2) Sardar Patel Institute of Economics and Social Research, Ahmedabad.
- (3) Gokhale Institute of Economics and Politics, Pune.

5.06 An LSI-4/90 computer has been installed by the National Informatics Centre, New Delhi, at the premises of the Data Archives, 35 Ferozshah Road, New Delhi. The system has 32 K-words (64 K-bytes) memory size. The peripherals include two floppy disk drives (243 KB capacity each), two magnetic tape drives (9 Track 800 b.p.i.), One Card Reader and a Line Printer with a speed of 285 cards and 300 lines/minutes respectively. In terms of software, the system is supported by ASSEMBLER and FORTRAN-IV (Operating System-054). Efforts are being made to develop general purpose application programmes for survey and statistical data analysis techniques.

5.07 In addition, two Key-to-Tape direct data entry units have been added to the existing IBM Unit Record Machines to facilitate data preparation for computerization.

INSTITUTE OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES
JAIPUR

The Council had decided to establish a social science research institute at Jaipur in collaboration with the Government of Rajasthan on the lines of the Research Institutes established in Karnataka, Kerala, Madras, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal, as recommended by the Chakravorty Committee. An Expert Committee set up under the Chairmanship of Professor Ravi J. Mathai in 1976 to examine the question suggested certain guidelines and decided to hold discussions with scholars and representatives of the government and industry from Rajasthan. The work of the Committee could not, however, proceed due to certain developments. The Council was in constant touch with the Government of Rajasthan for the establishment of the Centre.

During the middle of 1980 the University of Rajasthan set up a Committee under the Chairmanship of Professor S.P. Verma to expedite the process of establishment of an Institute. After close consultation with the ICSSR and the Government of Rajasthan, the Institute of Development Studies, Jaipur, was set up with the concurrence of the Government of Rajasthan. A Board of Governors was constituted with Professor M.V. Mathur as its Chairman. The Institute was registered as a Society under the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Memorandum of Association and Rules were framed.

The principal objective of the Institute is to undertake, aid, promote and coordinate research on the problems and processes of development in India with special reference to Rajasthan. It aims at cultivating strong interaction among the social scientists and technologists in the various fields of development, and fostering inter-institutional collaboration among the universities, research institutes and policy-makers in Rajasthan. It has established contacts with the Geological Survey of India, Central Arid Zone Research Institute and other developmental agencies in the state.

The Institute requested the ICSSR to include it as one of the national social science research institutes for maintenance and development grant from the ICSSR. A Visiting Committee appointed to examine the proposal, discussed it with the authorities of the Institute and concerned officials of the Government of Rajasthan and recommended inclusion of the Institute for a grant from the ICSSR and the State Government on matching basis. This was approved by the ICSSR and sanctioned by the Government of India in March 1981. Accordingly, the Institute was included in the grant-in-aid scheme. During March 1981 the Institute received a non-recurring grant of Rs. 50,000 each from the ICSSR and the Government of Rajasthan.

It has set up a Committee of Direction and made necessary changes in the Memorandum of Association as suggested by the Visiting Committee. The Institute decided to take steps to advertise posts for selection of academic and administrative personnel.
